

Appendix 4E Preliminary Final Report

Resonance Health Limited (ASX: RHT) (“Resonance Health” or the “Company”) announces its Appendix 4E - Preliminary Final Report for FY2021.

Sales Revenue

Sales revenue for the year was $3.78 million, a 3% increase on the previous year of $3.67 million which was achieved despite the impact of COVID-19 due to global lockdowns and accessibility issues for patients to scanning centres during the global pandemic.

31% of sales revenue for the year was derived from the United States and Canada with the UK contributing 21% and the balance spread across Europe, Australia and Asia. Commercial revenue accounted for 59% of total revenue with clinical trials and other studies making up the balance. Receipts from customers were $3.68 million, up 2% from the previous year’s result.

Net Profit After Tax

The Company recorded a Net Profit after Tax for the year of $585,858, compared with a Net Loss after Tax for FY2020 of $715,076.

Research and Development Activities

Resonance Health recorded a number of significant achievements during the year in respect of its artificial intelligence (“AI”), imaging and molecular medicine R&D workstreams:

- FerriSmart – The Company reached agreement for the incorporation of Resonance’s FerriSmart AI-based liver-iron concentration measurement tool into the Siemens Healthineers Digital Marketplace. This follows previous agreements allowing FerriSmart to be sold as part of 3DR’s post-processing services to their customers in the United States and via Blackford Analysis’s platform.
- HepaFat-AI – The Company achieved regulatory clearance from the US Food & Drug Administration (“FDA”), the Australian Therapeutic Goods Administration (“TGA”) and European CE Marking for HepaFat-AI, the Company’s fully automated AI-based liver fat quantification tool (see ASX announcements dated 9 December 2020, 18 February 2021 and 24 February 2021). In addition, the HepaFat-AI technology was integrated into channel partner Blackford Analysis’s platform during the year pursuant to an Alliance Partner Agreement (see ASX announcement 24 December 2020).
- Alert-PE – The Company continued to develop its Alert-PE tool, a radiological software tool that performs fully automated AI identification of pulmonary embolism (“PE”) using computer tomography pulmonary angiogram (“CTPA”) scans. The Company is progressing the Alert-PE product through validation of its performance and has recently (post period) lodged an application for a pre-submission meeting with the FDA.
- Antiviral Therapies Project - The Company has also progressed its molecular medicine R&D workstream aimed at treating liver-related diseases. Following testing the Company has selected a lead antisense oligonucleotide (“ASO”) compound which has been named AS3 and which is intended to target a human host protein essential to the lifecycle of numerous human viruses, including Hepatitis B (“HBV”). In a preclinical cell model of HBV infection, AS3 demonstrated statistically significant viral suppression compared to a control ASO. In view of the positive data and market opportunity, the Company has extended the testing program to include other important viral diseases and has commenced a liver dosing study in humanized liver mice.

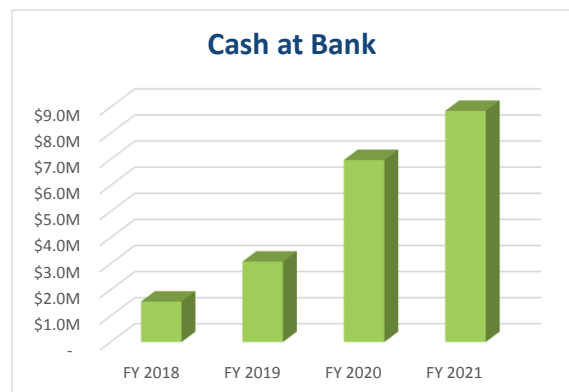

As part of these R&D workstreams, the Company received an R&D tax incentive of $242,334 for eligible R&D work expended by the Company for the financial year ended 30 June 2021.

The Company continues to assess opportunities to expand its core business, with R&D expenditure targeted specifically towards the diversification of in-house R&D projects by establishing three key areas of focus, artificial intelligence, imaging, and molecular medicine.

Cash at Bank

Cash at Bank as at 30 June 2021 totaled $8.86 million, in comparison to the 30 June 2020 cash balance of $6.97 million which reflected strong Cash Flows from Operating Activities during the year of $1.17 million. The financial year included an R&D tax incentive refund of $242,334 and $1.25 million from the issue of fully paid ordinary shares on the exercise of options.

The Company has no debt.

Management Changes and Strategy for Growth

Mr. Mitchell Wells was appointed Managing Director on 28 June 2021 following the resignation of Ms. Alison Laws as CEO of Resonance Health.
