Red River awarded Asian Exploration Deal of the Year at Mines and Money Conference in Hong Kong

Zinc developer Red River Resources Limited (Red River or the Company) is pleased to announce that it has received the Asian Exploration Deal of the Year Award at the 8th Annual Mines and Money Hong Kong Outstanding Achievement Awards for its acquisition of the Thalanga Zinc Project in North Queensland, Australia.

Red River announced the acquisition of the Thalanga Zinc Project in October 2014 and since then our project development team, both in Melbourne and Queensland, have been focused on advancing Thalanga Operations into production and exploring for additional orebodies in the highly prospective Mt Windsor Volcanic Belt.

Red River recently announced a 100% increase in the Mineral Resources at Thalanga with the potential to substantially increase the project life of Thalanga Operations. The Company is currently working on the restart plan for Thalanga Operations with the objective of completing the re-start study in Q2 2015 and, as previously announced, commencing production at Thalanga by the end of 2015.

An induced polarisation (IP) survey has just been completed at the Thalanga and Liontown-Waterloo Projects, which has identified additional high priority targets. The Company plans to commence drilling these targets in May 2015 and is targeting additional high grade copper-lead-zinc mineralisation at Thalanga and also at Liontown-Waterloo.

Commenting on the award Managing Director Donald Garner said: "We are delighted to receive this award. It reaffirms our strategy of acquiring the Thalanga Zinc Project. We are now focused on the Thalanga re-start project as well as defining additional resources to significantly extend the mine life.

We would like to take this opportunity to thank all our shareholders, who have supported us in the first steps of this exciting journey, and the teams at Triple C Consulting and Foster Stockbroking who have assisted the Company with fundraising, our legal counsel Piper Alderman, the investor relations team at NWR Communications and Mining One Consultants who we are working with on the restart studies at Thalanga Operations".
