"This award recognises and highlights the continued success that CSI has in that approach."

Mr Wade said the award was recognition for the efforts of all company staff but extended special thanks and congratulations to the teams at the Nammuldi and West Angelas operations.

"Calendar 2009 was an extremely challenging period; it was one that commenced in the midst of a global financial crisis and a decidedly uncertain future, particular for the Australian Resources sector but concluded with renewed growth and expansion and a positive outlook for the future. During this time the CSI teams at both Nammuldi and West Angelas continued to work with the Rio Tinto team in providing world class services and both team's achieved impressive safety and production milestones for which I commend them."

"Rio Tinto's Iron Ore group has and continues to be an enjoyable organisation to work with and a partner of choice for CSI. We look forward to working closely with them in the years ahead and the exciting opportunities this brings" he added.
